The last holiday, I went to the city of Pacitan with some of my friends. We would stay some night at the unknown beach because we would like to try the experience of being into the wild. We had prepared everything.	Orientation: Introducing the participant, using first person point of view, I was on the car las week.
The last holiday, I went to the city of Pacitan with some of my friends. We would stay some night at the unknown beach because we would like to try the experience of being into the wild. We had prepared everything.  We went there by motorcycle. That vehicle was easier for us to pass any kind of road to go to some of the unknown beach along the south side of Pacitan city. We rode slowly and sometimes stopped for several minutes to enjoy the landscape. Finally, we arrived at Pacitan. We continued to go to the south just to find any beach. What we wanted to find was a beach with no tourist there and we found it. It was a beautiful beach with nobody else except us. We built our tents and prepared small branch for making small fire because we need it to cook. I loved this beach because I got not only a beautiful place but also a great beach for fishing. I did fishing and got a lot of fishes. We roasted those fishes at the fire we've made.	Events: Describing a series of event which happened.
We stayed at that beach for two nights. We had to get back home because we ran out of food. We loved that journey and we would back at the beach next holiday.	Reorientation: Stating the writer's personal note/comment

Social Function

Recount is a text which retells events or experiences in the past. Its purpose is either to inform or to entertain the audience. There is no complication among the participants and that differentiates from narrative

Generic Structure of Recount

1. Orientation: Introducing the participants, place and time
2. Events: Describing series of event that happened in the past
3. Reorientation: It is optional. Stating personal comment of the writer to the story
