Once upon a time, there was a poor man named Bujang Kurung in a small village in Rejang Lebong. He lived with his parents. He had to go fishing everyday so that they had something to eat. One day, he heard a noise on his way home. It was some fairies who took a bath in the river. He was amazed at the beauty of them. He took one of the fairies' clothes.

“Where is my cloth?” cried one of the girls after finish bathing. She was Lalan, the youngest and the most beautiful among them. She looked for it everywhere while the other fairies went back to kahyangan. But she could not find her cloth. She met Bujang and told him what had happened. “Let’s come to my home!” asked Bujang. Then, the girl followed him to his house. Several months later, they fell in love each other’s and got married. They lived happily. After one year, they got a son.

One day, Lalan found her clothe which lost several years ago when she cleaned the ceiling of her house. She was really disappointed with her husband because actually he had taken and hid her cloth. She told her husband angrily and wore the cloth. She went to Kahyangan with her son. Bujang was very sad and always called his wife. “Lalan..., come back!
