READING COMPREHENSION

READ THE TEXT CAREFULLY.

SEAL

<sup>1</sup>A seal is a mammal that can live both in and out of the water.

<sup>2</sup>Seals are gray in color and have thin layers of flat flippers or limbs and hairy coats for protection from sand and rocks. Seals are six meters long and weigh about 150 pounds. Most seals eat a variety of fish and shellfish.

<sup>4</sup>Every spring pregnant female seals go up on land to have their pups. It takes almost a full year for a pregnant female seals to have a pup. They have one pup each year. The pups do not swim until they have accumulated enough fat to keep them warm, to give them energy and to help them float.

<sup>5</sup>Seals travel in small groups or large herds and often rest together on land. During the breeding season, large numbers of seals join together at breeding grounds to form rookeries which sometimes have thousands of seals. The adult males are called bulls and try to claim territories in which they try to attract females. Female seals are called cows.

<sup>6</sup>Seals defend themselves by making loud noises or swimming away fast. Their enemies are sharks, men and killer whales. For years men hunted seals for their coats, blubber and meat, and almost made them extinct. The United States passed a law in 1972 to stop the hunting of seals. Now you can see a lot more seals along the beaches.
